Chesapeake Hills Golf Course Reopens Back Nine Holes After Upgrades

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. – July 27, 2017 – The Calvert County Department of Parks and Recreation will reopen Chesapeake Hills Golf Course's back nine holes for play July 28. Staff closed off the holes in late June to plant and nurture new Bermuda grass.

"The sprigging project has been completed and the grass is growing in nicely," said Chesapeake Hills Golf Course Manager Tim Hepler. "Although it hasn't reached its full potential yet, we are able to open the back nine for play. We think our customers will be very impressed with the improvements."

Located in scenic Lusby and just minutes from historic Solomons Island, the Chesapeake Hills Golf Course offers an enjoyable and challenging experience for all golfers.
